

RYE WHISKEY

Our Rye Whiskey range is dedicated to applying a classic approach to the creation of Rye Whiskey in the full-flavored style of the late 19th century. To this, we lend 21st century exploration and innovation, for which Cadée Distillery is known, to create whiskies that surprise and delight people seeking great spirits.

SWEET COMPANY

Cadée Rye has a rich vein of peaty-smokiness, underpinned by sherry cask-aged whiskies, full of dried fruit and wine character. A classic front label design complements a hand drawn image of the Isle of Whidbey on the back.

ABV: 42% / 84 proof

Handmade in small batches on the Isle of Whidbey, Washington.

Aging: Aged in new, charred American oak barrels for a minimum of 12 months.

Nose: This Rye Whiskey is a banquet for the senses. A masterful and richly balanced spirit that embodies the best attributes of the profile.

Tasting Notes: Richly balanced with a range of spice notes, including pepper, nutmeg, clove, and cinnamon. Mint and dried apple are apparent, with undertones of oak, soft caramel and vanilla. On the palate, spice predominates counterbalanced by fresh mint, oak, vanilla and chocolate flavors.

True fans of Rye will savor this beauty. It will become an essential addition to their whiskey collection.

GAME CHANGER

The story begins back in the late 1700s, when George Washington began distilling rye whiskey at his Mount Vernon plantation.

Rye was a cold-weather grain that flourished in the Northeast. The English brought barley with them when they originally came to America, which didn't grow well in the Northeast and mid-Atlantic where they first landed. The Dutch, however, brought rye, which flourished. As people migrated south, they found that corn grew best in places like Kentucky and Tennessee, which led to bourbon's emergence in those places. But elsewhere, rye was the name of the distilling spirits game.
